Dear Ministry Partner,

As someone who has grown up in the church and now serving on staff at a church, I have attended numerous conferences, camps, concerts, and seminars where I have heard a countless number of speakers and presenters. I have no doubt in my mind that Jason DeZurik is among the best I have ever heard or worked with.

Jason has an almost uncanny ability to gain trust and respect as soon as he takes the stage by virtue of the depth of his knowledge on issues that are facing today's teens and young adults.

It's been 7 years since I first had the privilege of bringing Jason to speak to our teens. The first time he spoke, he had every student and leader on the edge of their seats as he spoke about placing our trust in Christ in every situation. You could have heard a pin drop at any point during his talk. The response to Jason was unprecedented. Some of our "hardest" students lined up to talk with Jason before the night was over.

Throughout scripture, we can find time and time again where God has provided those to speak to each generation. There is no doubt that Jason has faithfully answered that same call to be a voice to this generation, For Such a Time as This. Jason continues to deliver a message of hope, love and compassion whether in front of hundreds or just a few. I believe the reason he has such an impact on all that he presents to is that he is genuine in every regard.

Students and young adults today are looking for something 'real' and have the ability, even more so than adults, to see through hypocrisy or "fake people". When you hear Jason speak, you get to know him as a real person. As he speaks, you realize that there is nothing artificial about him—everything he says comes from his heart.

*If you want someone to present the gospel in a way that everyone will understand,
Jason is the right person for the job.

*If you are looking for adults that are willing to have "hard" or "real" conversations with teens and young adults,
Jason and his team are the right people to do just that.

*If you are looking to pray for and financially support a ministry that is actively investing in the lives of students and equipping them to make a difference in the world today,
Worldview Warriors is the ministry that is doing that very thing.

I am privileged to consider Jason a true friend. It is with only the highest regard that I recommend Jason, his team, and Worldview Warriors for your consideration. Please feel free to contact me with any questions you might have.

Sincerely,

Pastor George H Sweatt
