To Whom it May Concern:

I am writing this as a strong affirmation of Jason DeZurik's call, passion, and effectiveness in ministry. I have known him for 3 years now, and have seen God's hand moving in his life and efforts in ministry.

He is a man who takes seriously the Biblical command as a leader to be above reproach, and to sacrifice himself in meeting people on their turf to lead them to Christ, as in I Corinthians 9. He also has demonstrated passion and ability to reach youth and adults with preaching, teaching, and authentic relationships - as well as the qualities of leadership defined in the Biblical books of Timothy and Titus.

I believe so strongly in what God has called him to do, that I have personally invested financially in WorldView Warriors, and have joined that ministry as an event speaker. I have been a part of the radio show, "Do Not Keep Silent," and have endorsed fully and publically both the radio show and the ministry of WorldView Warriors. We come from very different backgrounds and traditions, but share a passion to equip people to live God's Word daily, challenge the lies of the world, and bring the freedom of Christ to believers and non-believers alike.

As Jason's pastor I strongly endorse his calling and service in ministry, and have a very clear understanding of his strengths and weaknesses. I am personally available for any questions, character reference, or further comment on him, his family life, devotion to Christ, or how he engages in ministry and service to Jesus Christ.

We have said this of each other, and I consider it an honor to be able to share this: "I would storm the gates of Hell with him." In many ways we are actively involved in "depopulating" Hell already.

Blessings,
